Here's my fighter... I call him "Mago". He comes equipped with a Sagat with skill profession at 999/1000. He's nearly perfect all he needs is to consume other fighters before he gains experience. He can rely on you on your battle or battles.

While waiting for the party to make their move, the Minotaur kills himself out of boredom.

A brave strategy indeed!

Upon entering the Minotaur's chambers the party sets eyes upon his hoard of treasure.

It seems that there is plenty of gold to go around and a special treasure for each party member!

The Key of Darkness for Baddicus. Being one of the 3 Unholy Keys of the Everdragon, it also has the power to control the brightness/darkness of any room.

Wirt's Leg for Wingershorts, with the power to transport him to anywhere there are cows.

The Chimes of Melancholy for Charcoal Midnight, why it looks like a badass guitar we will never know.

Crenshaw: The Gape Bringer, a sword with incredible power. Hellbrood picks this up and immediately surges with energy.

The Magical Lamp of Ispahd for Double Unstoppable, unfortunately the genie was released by some asshole so it doesn't really have any powers.

The five Whip of Balrog for Sawmik. <Damage to Wizards.

And last, The Crystal Codpiece for Termbatly, but ho, where is our brave warrior? Has he fallen if to some trap/not a trap?

The party begins their search for the lost comrade.

Meanwhile...

Termbatly has taken the left path since it was obviously not a trap, now he is faced with another choice.
