Evidence of evaluation

Teaching a second language with technology has created in my classroom a more communicative environment. In my Spanish class 001 in the fall 2005, students, due to their access to ANGEL, often come prepared, allowing the dynamic of the group to be based on interaction, where they can speak and feel secure that they know the material, instead of relying on the instructor. Thus, the use of technology in my case, ANGEL, PowerPoint presentations and Internet mainly, has been a very positive element that prepares students and exposes them to a society, that even if they don’t go there, they do through technology.
