

We also learned how to use Solidworks to construct simple objects and then we learned how to put these objects together in an assembly. To make these objects look as realistic as possible, we utilized a lot of Solidworks's features, such as extruding the base, sweep, fillet, extruding cuts and revolve.

For one of the assignments, we had to make the “base” of a lamp (shown above).