Words I like to live by...

- I truly believe “what doesn’t kill you only makes you stronger”
- I don’t believe that “everything happens for a reason”
- Life is about the journey, not the destination
- You only need people in your life that need you in theirs
- Forgive, not forget
- Honesty goes a long way
- Laugh as much as you breathe
Friends and family are very important to me. I’m young, but I’ve already had a lot of life changing experiences. As a sophomore in high school, my best friend was killed in a two car accident. He was taken out of my life expectantly and made me realize I should not take life for granted or the people in it that make it so great.
