
Mrs. Emily Irvin Jones was born in Frackville on June 22, 1889. She lived on her parents' farm near Olyphant until she was five years old. Her family home was built by her grandfather, William Irvin, in 1880. The house was described as being a lovely home, built of stone and wood, with a large veranda and a spacious yard.

When Emily was five years old, her family moved to Frackville. The town was described as being a busy place with many shops, stores, and businesses. Emily's family lived in a small house near the center of town, and they were able to walk to the local stores to buy their groceries and other necessities.

Emily attended the first Roman Catholic Church in Frackville, where she met her future husband, Lyle Mengel. The church was described as being a small, wooden building, with a thatched roof and a bell tower. Emily and Lyle were married in 1910.

The couple lived in Frackville for many years, raising their family and working hard to make ends meet. They were described as being hardworking and dedicated, with a strong sense of community and family.

Emily passed away in 1975, leaving behind a legacy of love and dedication to her family and community. She will always be remembered as a kind and loving person, who made a lasting impact on the lives of those she touched.
