Lehigh avenue, Frackville, in 1904: The Jamelson Building at 26, 28, and 30 South Lehigh Avenue was located to the left of this picture. Charlie Lawrence's Hardware Store was located at 24 South Lehigh Avenue where Allan's Drug Store is presently located. John Bohmer's Restaurant was located at 22 South Lehigh where Harry Lehrman operated a Men's Store for many years. This store is now operated by Leonard Wonderlick. Deitrich's Butcher Shop was located at 18 South Lehigh where Harry Klemow operates the J. Fox Furniture Company. The Deitrich butcher wagon is standing in front of the store. The United States Post Office was located next door and Calvin B. Phillips was Postmaster at this time. The Scott General Store was located on the corner of Frack Street and Lehigh Avenue where the American Bank is now located. Notice the sheds built out from the buildings on the right side of the street. Many buildings were built this way to shelter the folks walking on the sidewalks. The driver of the wagon was Oscar Wilson with Wood A. Nice, undertaker.

Ordinances of the Borough of Frackville, 1904:

Any persons firing any kind of fire-arm within the corporate limits, shall upon conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a fine of Five Dollars for the use of the borough, or shall, upon failure to pay said fine, be imprisoned in the borough lockup, for a period not exceeding 48 hours; provided, however, that this shall not be so construed as to prevent the firing of the customary salute in any of the cemeteries within the borough.

Any person firing any kind of fire-cracker, squibs, rockets, or other explosive material within the borough, shall, upon conviction thereof, forfeit and pay for each and every offense the sum of Two Dollars for the use of the borough, or shall, upon failure to pay said fines be imprisoned in the lockup for a period of twelve hours.
