One very valuable skill we learned this year in Engineering Design was how to successfully complete engineering drawings. This skill allows you to model a part by hand with a variety of views. We learned how to do 3-view drawings (top, front, right), as well as the isometric view. We also learned how to show hidden lines (lines that cannot be seen from the side you are drawing), and the proper technique for drawing circular objects.