

Artist Statement:

I really feel that exploring what your mind is capable of is really important when designing. I appreciate all type of art whether it is designs, drawings, computer graphics or what ever it may be. It stretches everyone mind to focus outside of their normal realm. Many people can creatively expressive them selves in many ways and I am definitely one that appreciates all forms of creative expression. I genuinely have and soft spot for all things abstract. As you will see with this bio site, I just love abstract art, especially when it come to images and designs. To me it is something that is so out of the box and away from the norm. It may take a long stare, possibly in wonderment to figure what was the artist thinking or going through when they felt the need to design their piece. It is definitely my personal touch.

With that being said the majority of my designs and interest, when it come to art, is in the abstract field. I love to explore shadows, various colors, textures and designs, with the goal of putting them all together to form something that is so awesome and different, unlike anything that has been made before. In this project, I used Photoshop and Dreamweaver to really form these web pages. The addition of the links in CSS/HTML and all the images that have been included ties in to a complete project.

I am pretty new to personally designing images, however, as my portfolio grows, I expect to encompass some really cool and unique pieces, that I feel will really express how I feel inside. I believe my experiences in this class ties directly into this site that has been built. Thanks for reading, and just like my site, I'm a continued work in progress.
