ASSIGNMENT 1

The goal of this first assignment is for you, the student, to appreciate the extent to which electronics and electronics systems impact your life. Make an inventory of all the electronic devices and electronic equipment that you use.

I suggest that you split the list into the electronics that you use at home, in your vehicle, at school and at work if you are working right now or you worked last summer. Some equipment may be obvious (cell phone…) but some other may not be so (wristwatch … )

When you are done with the inventory, estimate how long you use each one of the equipment in the list in an average school day or weekend.

Submit your work to your instructor. Use a Word Processing software package for this assignment.
