Insofar as we can judge from scrappy evidence, the two companies arrived at a modus vivendi of sorts this season. The bitter battles of the past few years and the very real threat of the collapse of the second company are no longer evident in prologues and epilogues: the accommodation that was to lead to joint performances at court in 1704 is starting to become evident. Probably neither company was flourishing, but both appear to have been solvent. Nonetheless, no insider could have imagined that the situation would remain long unchanged: the tiny and makeshift Lincoln’s Inn Fields theatre was not viable for the long run. Sometime in the spring of 1703, John Vanbrugh, observing an opportunity, started to canvass backers for a new theatre. His intentions are manifest in the calculations he made at this time (printed below, under “ca. April” 1703). Vanbrugh’s hope was to engineer a new theatrical union and recombine the two companies in an elegant new theatre of his own design. The personnel he pencilled into his plan show that while he intended to stage “opera” and dance, his primary repertory would be English plays. The two hostile companies of 1695 had fought themselves to a stalemate: Vanbrugh turned out to be the unexpected means by which London theatre escaped the circumstances in which it had become stuck. Unfortunately, the process was to be a bumpy one. Vanbrugh’s efforts to negotiate or force a union were to fail; his new theatre proved less than ideal for spoken plays; and his successful grab at an opera monopoly in 1708 was to put him at the verge of bankruptcy in just four months. In the spring of 1703 all this was in the future, but as rumors of a new theatre went into circulation, everyone must have realized that the status quo obtaining since 1695 would be of no great duration.

We know quite a lot about Drury Lane’s offerings this season, because the company advertised something like 40 percent of its performances in the Daily Courant. New plays must have been a disappointment: only Baker’s Tunbridge-Walks appears to have been anything like a genuine success. Because Lincoln’s Inn Fields advertised almost not at all, our picture of its repertory is fragmentary: we probably know no more than a third of its plays this year. The company mounted six new plays, but only Boyle’s As You Find it appears to have been profitable. Our most vivid picture of the company’s operations derives from “Verbruggen’s Petition” (see ca. mid-May 1703, below, for the full text), a document misdated by Nicoll and hence long misassociated with 1697-98. The picture Verbruggen conveys (no doubt one-sided) is ugly: a company torn by strife and bitter over exploitation and unfair management practiced by the most senior and powerful members—Betterton, Barry, and Bracegirdle. Verbruggen’s conviction that the books were being cooked may be false, but his having to petition the Lord Chamberlain to see those books suggests an operation far removed from the world of 1695 when the actor cooperative had been established. If Verbruggen is telling the truth, the company was in debt; the senior actors had agreed that no one should have a benefit until the debts were paid; but Betterton was prepared to take a benefit for himself anyway. Of particular interest is Verbruggen’s assertion “That this last winter the Receipts have been extraordinary great especially ever since the Italian Woman hath sung.” If so, the company’s cash position may have been better than its shaky recent past and sketchy performance records might lead us to believe.

Both companies relied heavily on entr’acte entertainments this season. They are seldom advertised in full in the newspaper bills (which often refer readers to the “Great Bills” for details), but they are mentioned again and again. Both companies employed singers and dancers in larger numbers than ever before documented. What Lincoln’s Inn Fields had to pay Margarita de l’Epine for her services in the spring is anyone’s guess, but if Verbruggen is to be believed, she packed in spectators.

By the latter part of the season tensions about the future must have been rising, though nothing happened as quickly as perhaps was expected. Vanbrugh had successfully raised £3000 in pledged capital from the nobility and gentry, and as of 15 June he was overoptimistically expecting to have his theatre built and ready for business by Christmas. Instead, he found himself bogged down in legal squabbles over the site (see 14 August) and construction delays: not until April 1705 was his theatre to be open, and even then it was not really complete and fully rigged. But by the late spring of 1703 Christopher Rich certainly understood that he was going to face a major challenge, and the advertisement of 13 May that Dorset Garden was being refitted for opera performances is probably a direct response to Vanbrugh.

In the summer of 1703 (evidently commencing on 5 July), the Lincoln’s Inn Fields company made a visit to Oxford. Most of what we know about their jaunt derives from a hostile verse satire printed in The Players turn’d Academicks.

cing it for purveying smut and plotting to destroy the Drury Lane theatre. With the satire are printed a prologue said to have been spoken by Betterton in Oxford on 5 July and one spoken by John Mills in reply at Drury Lane on 16 July. The authorship of the pamphlet is unknown, and some of the satire is now uninterpretable, but it certainly communicates the tensions and hostilities that were never far beneath the surface of the London theatre world at this time.

DRURY LANE

Christopher Rich and Sir Thomas Skipwith remained the patentees. Judging from the petition of John Essex (see 24 February 1703), Rich continued to control daily finances. Who among the actors handled artistic direction is not known.

REPERTORY. Unlike their rivals at Lincoln's Inn Fields, the Drury Lane Company seems very quickly to have realized the potential advantages of advertising in the Daily Courant. They did so less than half the time, but often enough to give us a reasonably full picture of the company's repertory. We have record of 73 performances of 46 mainpieces (ten of them new). According to Chancery testimony (see 10 October) the company performed 185 times between 10 October and 24 July. In all likelihood we know at least three-quarters of the plays performed, and probably more. They gave medleys on occasion (e.g., 30 June, 7 July), premiering what was to become a long-popular afterpiece in one of them—Cibber's The School-Boy (24 October?). Their new mainpieces were as follows. Francis Manning, All for the Better (early November); Colley Cibber, She wou'd and she wou'd not, which struggled through six nights (26 November); Charles Gildon, The Patriot, an adaptation of Lee's Lucius Junius Brutus that survived three or four nights (ca. 3 December); George Farquhar, The Twin-Rivals, apparently not a success (14 December); Thomas Baker, Tunbridge-Walks, at least a modest success (early or mid-January); Thomas Durfey, The Old Mode and the New, which barely managed three nights (11 March); Richard Estcourt, The Fair Example, initial run uncertain (10 April); Susanna Centlivre, Love's Contrivance, evidently not a success, though part was later cannibalized as an afterpiece (4 June); Richard Wilkinson, Vice Reclaim'd, which apparently ran six nights (23 June).

PERSONNEL. Actors: John Bickerstaff; William Bowen; John Boyce; William Bullock; Colley Cibber; Richard Cross; Henry Fairbank; Philip Griffin; Benjamin Husband; Benjamin Johnson; Thomas Kent; John Mills; Mr Mynns; Henry Norris; William Pinkethman; Thomas Simpson; William Toms; Robert Wilks; Joseph Williams. Actresses: Margaret Bicknell; Susannah Cox; Mary Hook; Mary Kent; Frances Maria Knight; Jane Lucas; Margaret Mills; Henrietta Moore; Sarah Norris; Anne Oldfield; Mary Powell; Jane Rogers; Diana Temple; Susanna Verbruggen; Elizabeth Wilkins.
Dancers: Mr Claxton; Mr Claxton Jr [advertised only 18 June]; Mr Cottin [advertised only 20 October]; Philippe Du Ruel; John Essex; Mons. La Forest // Mrs Mosse; Mlle St Léger [advertised only 18 February].

Singers: Francis Hughes; Marcellus Laroon; Richard Leveridge // Mary Anne Campion; Joanna Maria Lindelheim [occasional?]; Mary Lindsey; Mrs Shaw.

Musicians: John Banister; John Banister (b. 1686); Charles Dieupart; Francesco Gasparini; Peter La Tour; James Paisible; Giuseppe Saggione.

Other Employees: Zachary Baggs (treasurer); John Hall (assistant treasurer); Daniel King (boxkeeper); William Lovelace (boxkeeper); Thomas Newman (prompter?); Owen Swiney (position unknown); Mr White (boxkeeper).

Proprietors: Christopher Rich and Sir Thomas Skipwith.

LINCOLN'S INN FIELDS

So far as is known, Thomas Betterton continued to handle daily financial and artistic management, while remaining answerable to his fellow sharers.

REPERTORY. Because management did not realize the virtues of advertising in a daily newspaper, records are extremely sketchy. We have record of only 20 mainpieces on a total of 27 occasions, plus one afterpiece (Motteux and Eccles’s masque, Acis and Galatea) on two dates. The company advertised on only 17 days this year: the remaining dates are from diary entries, annotated copies, a singer’s receipt, etc. The company did not give a summer season in London, but nonetheless we are probably lacking upwards of 150 performance dates for them. Their six new plays were as follows. Susanna Centlivre, The Stolen Heiress (31 December); John Oldmixon, The Governour of Cyprus, apparently a failure (ca. early January); William Burnaby, Love Betray’d (ca. late January?); an anonymous adaptation of Randolph’s The Fickle Shepherdess, played all by women (ca. April?); Charles Boyle’s As You Find It (28 April); Nicholas Rowe, The Fair Penitent, later to become a repertory staple, but initially a disappointment (ca. mid-May). The chances seem good that all six of these plays enjoyed no better than a mediocre initial run, or worse.

PERSONNEL. Actors: Mr Arnold; Samuel Bailey; Thomas Betterton; John Boman; Barton Booth; George Bright; Thomas Doggett; William Fieldhouse; John Freeman; Thomas Griffith; Joseph Harris; Francis Knapp; Francis Leigh; George Pack; George Powell; Cave Underhill; John Verbruggen. Actresses: Mrs Allison; Elizabeth Barry; Mary Betterton; Elizabeth Boman; Anne Bracegirdle; Abigail Lawson; Elinor Leigh; Mrs Martin; Miss Parsons; Mary Porter; Miss Porter [advertised early January only]; Mrs Prince; Elizabeth Willis.

2 So far as we know, Mary Betterton was no longer performing.
Dancers: Charles Fairbank; Anthony L'Abbé; Joseph Prince; John Weaver // Mrs Elford.

Singers: Mr Cook; Mr Davis [advertised only 28 April] // Mary Baldwin; Margarita de l'Epine [June only]; Mary Hodgson.

Other Employees: John Downes (prompter); John Miles (assistant treasurer?); Mr Smith (treasurer); Mr Warren (dresser).

UNDATABLE PLAYS PERTAINING TO THIS SEASON

The Happy Mistakes: or Self-Ruin, Self-Preservation (a dramatic ghost; not a play). This title is recorded and attributed to Motteux by Robert N. Cunningham, Peter Anthony Motteux, 1663-1718 (Oxford: Blackwell, 1933), p. 203. The source is an advertisement on p. [iv] of Motteux’s A Banquet for Gentlemen and Ladies, Second Impression (London: B. Harris, 1703), where it is listed and described as the first of “Two Novels.” (Copy used: BL 12613.a.6.)

Hypermnestra; or, Love in Tears. Publication was advertised in the Daily Courant on 14 May 1703. “This day is publish’d, The last new Tragedy, Intitul’d, Hypermnestra... Written by Robert Owen, Esq; Printed for Bernard Lintott at the Middle-Temple-Gate in Fleet-street. Price 1s. 6d.” Despite the terminology of this ad, the play was not in fact performed, as the dedication to Arthur Annesley, Esq. makes plain: “I should beg Pardon for presuming to present you with a Poem of this Nature, that has never appear’d on the Stage. ... Those things that seem’d to render it (according to the present Tast of the Town) an improper Entertainment for the Stage, are no Objections against it any where else. Viz. The length of the Speeches, and of the Scenes; the fewness of the Persons, and the singleness of the Plot.” Hypermnestra, or, Love in Tears. A Tragedy. Written by Robert Owen, Esq. (London: Bernard Lintott, 1703). Copy used: Readex. Danchin (I, 124-125) prints the “Prologue Intended to be spoken by Mrs Porter in Man’s Cloaths” and the “Epilogue Intended to be spoken by Mrs Prince.” The list of persons does not include an intended cast. A notice in the Daily Courant of 2 June says “Whereas a Play call’d Hypermnesstra, or Love in Tears, has been lately publish’d with a Dedication to the Honourable Arthur Annesly Esq; This is to give notice, that it was done altogether without his consent or knowledge. Which said Tragedy... is printed for Bernard Lintott at the Middle-Temple-Gate in Fleet-street. price 1s. 6d.”

The Maid in the Mill (Fletcher and Rowley). Publication of “The Songs in the reviv’d Comedy called, The Maid in the Mill” was advertised by Walsh

3 British Library Add. MS 61,420, fol. 48, an accounting of gratuities from the Queen’s Privy Purse distributed by the Duchess of Marlborough, lists Thomas Bell and Thomas Bodison as boxkeepers, Philip Soul as bill sticker. Each received a guinea. The list also includes a guinea for “the man that brings ye bills from drury lane play-house” and two guineas for “box-keepers att drury lane play-house.” The date could be any time between 1702 and about 1711.
and Hare in the Post Man of 24-27 October 1702. We deduce the likelihood of a revival in September or October 1702 (but possibly earlier). Music for three songs in this play ("A Bonny lad there was" “How long shall I pine, for love,” and “I’m, like inconstant chance,” all sung by Mrs Prince) was printed in A Collection of the Choicest Songs & Dialogues, published 31 October 1703. See Hunter, no. 5, items 4, 82, and 99.

PLATONICK LOVE; or, The Innocent Mistake (anonymous). This play is known only from a performance at Lincoln’s Inn Fields on 24 November 1718, when it was advertised as “Not Acted these Fifteen Years.” This implies a performance ca. 1703, though of course it need not have been a new play at that time. Nothing else is known of this title.

THE TRAGEDY OF KING SAUL (originally ca. 1676-1679?) probably by Roger Boyle, Earl of Orrery, and unperformed in his lifetime. This play was anonymously revised (by the author’s grandson, Charles Boyle?) and printed this year. The Tragedy of King Saul. Written by a Deceas’d Person of Honour, And now made Publick at the Request of Several Men of Quality who have highly Approv’d of it (London: Henry Playford and John Nutt, 1703). (Copy used: Folger.) Preface: “. . . tho’ the Persons that have the Government of the Stage have Rejected this Heroick Poem, as being freighted with too much Vertue, and Morality, to gain ’em a full Audience, ’tis hoped the Nobility and Gentry will neither Degenerate from their Ancestors, or themselves, by denying it their Acceptance and Encouragement. To give an Advantage and adapt it in some Measure to the Air of the Times, the Reader is here and there Entertain’d with Poetical Interludes of Ghosts, furies &c. which the Publisher has taken care should be set to Musick by the Best Hands, which may Recommend it to be acted in Schools and Universities, as a proper Entertainment for those that have Ingenious and Liberal Education, on Solemn Occasions.” There is no Dramatis Personae list, but the stage directions make clear that performance was envisioned and expected. The new prologue and epilogue are reprinted by Danchin (I, 126-128). From allusions to Elford, L’Abbé, and Margarita de l’Epine we deduce that a spring production at Lincoln’s Inn Fields was hoped for.
ADVERTISEMENT. Whereas there are several Stage-players, Mountebanks, Rope-dancers, Prize-players, Puppet-showers, and such as make shew of motions and strange sights (and in particular Roger Cately, Paul Philo, Patrick Miller, Robert Aron, Jonathan Hill, Thomas Waters, Thos. Newman, Tho. Perkins, Tho. Davis, Matthew Eyres, Wm Wells, Joseph Cook, John Tilly, [blank] Rhymus, and John Bird, Mountebanks) and many others, who are strolling up and down the Country within this Kingdom of England, who have no Licences from Charles Killegrew, Esq. the Master, and Thomas Selby, Gent. Controller of the Revels, as they ought to have (there being customary Fees due to them) for the same; we the said Master and Controller, do therefore desire all Constables, Bosholders [recte Borsholders, i.e., petty constables], Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor, in all Cities, Corporations, Towns and Parishes within the said Counties, to oppose them, and every of them, in their Acting in such their employments, unless they pay you 2s. per day for so long time as they stay amongst you (without the said Master and Controllers Licence) on which is stampt the two six penny stamps duty to the Queen, pursuant to two late Acts of Parliament, in part of what Money is due from them to the said Master and Controller, upon the account of their not having Licences; and to give notice of such Persons whom they oppose, where they are, so as they may be prosecuted according to Law by the said Master and Controller, which said Money so paid by them, the said Master and Controller of the Revels, do desire it may be distributed to such poor People among you, who most want the same. (Post Man, 8-10 September)

COMMENT. A similar notice appeared in the Post Man of 1-3 October, naming “John Power, Robert Booker and Richard Gilbert, Stage-players,” along with numerous mountebanks and others. Whether “Thomas Newman” was the Drury Lane prompter is not clear: he may have joined a troupe of strollers between seasons.

THE FATAL MARRIAGE [Southerne]. Cast not known, but Benjamin Johnson may have taken Fernando (see below). The performance may be deduced from a passage in the Secret Mercury of 9-16 September (printed below).

CONTEMPORARY COMMENT. On Saturday the Play being of the first rate, I took the Pains out of Curiosity and Criticism, to see whether the Persons in Re [sic; text apparently lacking], kept, Character as well as those of in Representation; but coming too soon for the Lecture, I took a turn in the Lobby, where a Black Devil in a Mask brush’d by with some Assurance. . . . I saw ‘twas no trading with such a Body of sin, and therefore went to an Ale-House at hand where Enter B—— I.— [i.e., Benjamin Johnson?] the Player, with other shreds of Debauchery in the Train; they pass’d upon a warm Conference about a Duel; I thought to have staid out the Dialogue, but was quickly driven off the Place with Volleys of Oaths and Cannon-shot of hideous Imprecations, so that I retreated to the more modest Play-House for a Respite; here in a Corner, I found a Knot of Quality (like Quevedo’s Collection in a Corner of Hell) Ladies were talking to Gentlemen and I suppose Gentlemen to Ladies too; but the Women quite carried it in Wind, knowing very well that it did not belong to Gentlemen to talk before such a Company; besides they must needs oblige their Customers: I took a particular Notice of a Country Gentleman who had got an Antiquate piece into a Privacy; up at first hand. The Play was acted to the utmost Advantage, though had the Poet made Biron and Villeroy Friends, and the Players kept off Dances and Jack-Puddings from the Stage, the Entertainment had been better contrived. (Secret Mercury, 9-16 September) [copy used: Nichols Newspapers]

COMMENT. From the reference to Biron and Villeroy we deduce that the play performed was Southerne’s The Fatal Marriage. The initials of the performer mentioned fit Benjamin Johnson, who later took Fernando in this play. Thomas Doggett, who created the role in 1694, was at Lincoln’s Inn Fields this season.

Monday 14

CONCERT. The splenetic author of the Secret Mercury (9-16 September) implies that a concert was given at an unstated venue this day. Under Monday, 14 September, he reports: “I made my Entrance into the Musick House, half an Hour before the Wickedness was got to a Head, on purpose to see the first start on’t, and how the Imposture went round amongst them.”

Friday 18

THE EMPEROR OF THE MOON [Behn]. Harlequin—Penkethman. (Daily Courant)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. At the desire of some Persons of Quality . . . A Comedy
. . . wherein Mr Penkethman acts the part of Harlequin without a Masque, for the Entertainment of an African Prince lately arrived here, being Nephew to the King of Bauday of that Country. With several Entertainments of Singing and Dancing, and the last new Epilogue never spoken but once by Mr Penkethman.

CONTEMPORARY COMMENT. Whatever Allowances are made for the Licence of that Character, I mean of an Harlequin, whatever Pretences may be urged, from the Practice of the ancient Comedy, for its being play’d in a Mask, resembling no part of the human Species, I am apt to think the best Excuse a modern Actor can plead for his continuing it, is that the low, senseless, and monstrous things he says and does in it no theatrical Assurance could get through with a bare Face: Let me give you an Instance of even Penkethman’s being out of Countenance for want of it: When he first play’d Harlequin in the Emperor of the Moon, several Gentlemen (who inadvertently judg’d by the Rules of Nature) fancied that a great deal of the Drollery and Spirit of his Grimace was lost by his wearing that useless, ummeaning Masque of a black Cat, and therefore insisted that the next time of his acting that Part he should play without it: Their Desire was accordingly comply’d with—but, alas! in vain—Penkethman could not take to himself the Shame of the Character without being concealed—he was no more Harlequin—his Humour was quite disconcerted! his Conscience could not with the same Effronterie declare against Nature without the cover of that unchanging Face, which he was sure would never blush for it! No! it was quite another Case! without that Armour his Courage could not come up to the bold Strokes that were necessary to get the better of common sense. (Cibber, Apology, I, 150-152)

THE MEDLEY. Several New Dramatick Entertainments . . . the first being a Tragical Interlude of one Act only, call'd THE DEATH OF KING HENRY VI [i.e., the first act of Cibber’s Richard III, cut in 1699 by order of the Master of the Revels]. The second several select Scenes in the Comedy of AESOP [Vanbrugh]; and the last is a short Comedy of two Acts, call’d, ‡ THE SCHOOL-BOY, or, The Comical Rivals [Colley Cibber]. In all which the several Parts of Crook-back’d Richard, the Beau [i.e., Æsop?], and the School-Boy, will be perform’d by Mr Cibber; and the Genealogist [we do not know what role is meant by “the Genealogist”], and the Country Gentleman [Sir Polidorus Hogstye] with his Hounds, and Major Rakish one of the Rivals, by William Pinkeman; and an Epilogue to the Town will be spoken by him. (Daily Courant, 21 October)

FIRST EDITION. The School-Boy; or, the Comical Rivals. A Comedy. As it has been often Acted at the Theatre-Royal, in Drury-Lane, with great Applause (London: Ben Bragg, 1707). Copy used: Readex. There is no cast given in the first edition. No prologue. No epilogue.

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. For the Benefit of Will. Pinkeman [but see below]. With several Entertainments that will be particularly express'd in the Bills of that Day, at common Prices.

COMMENT. This performance may well have been stopped (perhaps on account of the apparent intention to perform the suppressed act of Cibber’s version of Richard III). We deduce the probable stoppage from the Daily Courant ad of Friday 23 October for a performance of Love makes a Man on Monday the 26th for Pinkethman's benefit, with the explanation: “The Tickets which were given out for his Benefit on Saturday, will be receiv'd for this Play on Monday, both Day and Play that was put in Wednesday's Courant being alter'd, at the Desire of several Persons of Quality.” If this performance did not occur, then the date of première of The School-Boy is entirely speculative. The next advertised performance is on 30 April 1703.

‡ ALL FOR THE BETTER; or, The Infallible Cure [Francis Manning]. Cast not advertised (but see below).

FIRST EDITION. All for the Better: or, the Infallible Cure. A Comedy, As it is Acted at the Theatre-Royal in Drury-Lane, By Her Majesties Servants (London: B. Bragg, 1703). Copy used: Readex. Publication "This day" was advertised in the Post Boy of 7-10 November. An ad in the Post Man of 24-27 October says "This day is published, A new set of Airs, in 4 parts. Composed by Jeremy Clarke, performed in the Comedy called, All for the Better, price 1s. 6d." Personæ Drammatis: Mendez—Mr Simpson; Young Mendez—Mr Fairbank; Antonio—Mr Bickerstaff; Manuel—Mr Toms; Don Alphonso—Mr Husbands; Lopez—Mr Johnson; Woodvil—Mr Wilks; Johnson—Mr Mills // Donna Theresa—Mrs Powel; Isabella—Mrs Rogers; Henrietta—Mrs Wilkins; Daria—Mrs Kent; Elvira—Mrs Moor; Clara—Mrs Lucas; Nurse—Mr Norris. Prologue. By Mr Farquhar. Spoke by Mr Wilks. Epilogue by a Friend. [There is no preface or dedication.]

COMMENT. The date of première is unknown, but from Drury Lane’s known performances in October, publication date, and references to winter in the prologue, an early November première seems likely, earlier publication of the music notwithstanding. Manning’s play could conceivably have been given between 10 and 15 October (though opening the season with a new play would be unusual) or 27-28-29 October. On the extant music, see Price, pp. 146-147.

CONCERT. In York-Buildings, a Consort of Musick, Vocal and Instrumental . . . by an Italian Gentlevwoman that was never heard in this Kingdom before, and Signior Casparino [Gasparini?!], the famous Musician that plays upon the Violin newly come from Rome; beginning at Eight a Clock. Price of each Ticket 5s. (London Gazette, 29 October-2 November)

COMMENT. The ad in the Daily Courant of 2 November says merely “by Performers lately come from Rome and Venice.” The “Italian Gentlewoman” was probably Margarita de l’Epine. See Biographical Dictionary, IV, 292-293. Tilmouth accidentally dates this concert 6 November, but ads in the Daily Courant confirm Tuesday 3 November. If, as we presume, “Casparino” is Francesco Gasparini, this is his first recorded appearance in England.

REPORT. It is not long ago I met with a Ballad, call’d, The Quakers Comical Song, wherein the Spirit of God was abominably Blasphem’d. Now to abuse a People Peaceable, who offend no Body, is highly Disingenuous; but with them to abuse that Spirit by which all good Christians are Sealed to the day of Redemption, is Prophane and Irreligious. This Song was Sung in a Booth at Bartholomew-Fair, and afterwards Printed, Sung and Sold, publickly about the Streets of London. (Observator, 31 October-4 November)

FRIENDSHIP IMPROV’D, or, the Female Warrior [Hopkins]. Cast not known.

COMMENT. A revival of this play is known from a notice in the Daily Courant of 7 December: “This day is publish’d, The last reviv’d Tragedy entitul’d,’ Friendship Improv’d, or, the Female Warrior. As it is Acted at the Theatre Royal in Lincolns-Inn-Fields. Written by Mr Charles Hopkins. Printed for Bernard Lintott at the Middle-Temple-Gate in Fleet-street. price 1s.” Hopkins’ play received its première at LIF on 7 November 1699. All members of the original cast save Mrs Moore were still with the company.

Genest (II, 263) records this play without comment under Monday 7 December, but so far as we are aware this is merely the date of publication of a new edition. Nonetheless, the terms of the ad make a revival likely.

‡ THE PATRIOT, or the Italian Conspiracy [Charles Gildon].

FIRST EDITION. The Patriot, or the Italian Conspiracy. A Tragedy. As it is Acted at the Theatre Royal in Drury-Lane (London: William Davis and George Strahan, 1703). Copy used: Readex. Publication was advertised in the Post Boy of 17-19 December. Publication of “A Set of Airs in four parts, performed in the Tragedy called The Patriot, or the Italian Conspiracy. Composed by Mr Dan. Purcell, price 1s. 6d,” was advertised in the Post Man of 28 November-1 December. Dramatis Personae: Cosmo di Medici—Mills; Lorenzo—Husbands; Uberto—Simpson; Donato—Kent; Rimini—Captain Griffin; Castruccio—Boise [Boyes] // Teraminta—Mrs Rogers; Honoria—Mrs Kent. Prologue: Wrote by Mr Dennis, and spoken by Mr Mills. Epilogue: Mr Mills comes forward and makes an Apology for want of an Epilogue; then Mr Penthkethman enters dress’d like a Beaux, and says he has one by a Friend, Mr Farquhar.

Preface: The Original of this Poem being Mr Lee’s it may be expected that I should give the Reader some Reasons for my Alteration of it. [Gildon then explains in four pages of tiny type why and how he adapted Nat. Lee’s Lucius Junius Brutus (1680).] I am assured by all that saw the Performance, that the Representation was extremely just in all the chief Parts.

COMMENT. The première probably occurred on Thursday 3 or Friday 4 December, since She wou’d, and She wou’d not apparently ran through 2 December, and The Bath was performed on Tuesday the 8th. Première on Thursday and author’s benefit on Saturday seem likely. Daniel Purcell wrote act music, published by Walsh in Harmonia Anglicana [V, 1702]. See Price, p. 210.

THE BATH, or, The Western Lass [Durfey]. Cast not advertised (but see 31 May 1701 for the original cast). (Daily Courant, 7 December)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. At the Desire of several Persons of Quality, and for the Benefit of the Author . . . will be reviv’d a Comedy . . . . Made shorter, and intermix’d with Vocal Musick and Dancing, particularly a Song beginning, Let the dreadful Engines &c. perform’d by Mr Leveridge; a comical Dialogue by him and Mrs Lindsey, beginning with Since the Times are so bad, &c. Another perform’d by Mr Laroone and Mr Hughes, beginning Sing, Sing, all ye Muses. With another new Scotch Song by Mr Leveridge. And a new Prologue, All in Honour of the Officers of the Army and Fleet, and to Welcome them home from Flanders and Vigo. With Dancing between every Act by a Devonshire Girl [Mrs Mosse] never seen on the Stage before, who performs 1st, a genteel Ground to the Harp alone. 2d, An Irish Humour call’d, The Whip of Dunboyne with her Master [Mr Claxton]. 3d, Another genteel Dance by her alone. 4th, A Highland Lilt with her Master. 5th, A Country Farmer’s Daughter singly; and all in natural Habits. To begin exactly at Five a Clock. The Boxes 5s. The Pit 3s. The Middle Gallery 2s. The Upper Gallery 1s. 6d.

COMMENT. For identification of the Devonshire Girl and her master, see Biographical Dictionary, X, 334-335. What was almost certainly the prologue for this occasion is printed in Durfey’s Songs Compleat (1719), II, 343-344, and reprinted by Danchin, I, 93-94.

‡ THE TWIN-RIVALS [George Farquhar]. Cast not advertised (but see below). (Daily Courant, 9 December)

FIRST EDITION. The Twin-Rivals. A Comedy. Acted at the Theatre Royal By Her Majesty’s Servants. Written by Mr Farquhar (London: Bernard Lintott, 1703). Copy used: Readex. Publication “This day” was advertised in the Daily Courant of 29 December. Dramatis Personæ: Elder Wou’dbee – Mr Wilks; Young Wou’dbee – Mr Cibber; Richmore – Mr Husband; Trueman – Mr Mills; Subtleman – Mr Penkethman; Balderdash and Alderman – Mr Johnson; Clear-Account – Mr Fairbank; Fair-Bank – Mr Minns; Teague – Mr Bowen // Constance – Mrs Rogers; Aurelia – Mrs Hook; Mandrake – Mr Bullock; Steward’s Wife – Mrs Moor. Prologue by Mr Motteux And Spoken by Mr Wilks. Epilogue Spoken by Mrs Hook.

Preface: The Success and Countenance that Debauchery has met with in Plays, was the most Severe and Reasonable Charge against their Authors in Mr Collier’s short View. . . . I have therefore in this Piece, endeavour’d to show, that an English Comedy may Answer the strictness of Poetical Justice, but indeed, the greater share of the English Audience . . . stand up as vigorously for the old Poetick Licence. . . . A Play without a Beau, Cully, Cuckold, or Coquet, is as Poor an Entertainment to some Pallats, as their Sundays dinner wou’d be without Beef and Pudding. And this I take to be one Reason that the Galleries were so thin during the Run of this Play. . . .

There was an Odium cast upon this Play before it appear’d, by some Persons who thought it their Interest to have it suppress’d. The Ladies were frighted from seeing it by formidable Stories of a Midwife, and were told no doubt, that they must expect no less than a Labour upon the Stage. . . . Some Criticks Complain, that the Design is defective for want of Clelia’s Appearance in the Scene; but I had rather they should find this Fault, than I forfeit my Regard to the Fair, by showing a Lady of Figure under a Misfortune; for which Reason I made her only Nominal, and chose to expose the Person that Injur’d her. . . .

Some People are apt to say, That the Character of Richmore points at a particular Person; tho’ . . . I see nothing but what is very general in his Character, except his Marrying his own Mistress; which, by the way, he never did, for he was no sooner off the Stage, but he chang’d his Mind, and the poor Lady is still in Statu Quo. . . . The most material Objection against this Play, is the Importance of the Subject, which necessarily leads into Sentiments too grave for Diversion, and supposes Vices too great for Comedy to Punish . . . but if there be a middle sort of Wickedness, too high for the Sock, and too low for the Buskin, is there any Reason that it shou’d go unpunished? What are more Obnoxious to Humane Society, than the Villanies expos’d in this Play; the Frauds, Plots, and Contrivances upon the Fortunes of Men, and the Vertue of Women, but the Persons are too mean for the Heroick, Then what must we do with them? Why, They must of necessity drop into Comedy.

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. A new Comedy never acted before.

REPORT. On Monday Night a Rencounter happen’d on the Stage of the Play-
House in Drury-Lane, between Mr Fielding and Mr Goodyar, in which the former was Wounded. (Daily Courant, 17 December)

COMMENT. Lintott paid Farquhar £15 for publication rights on 22 December (Nicholls, VIII, 296). The dedication was dated 23 December, and publication “This Day” was advertised on 29 December in the Daily Courant. Publication of “Mr Croft’s Aires in the Comedy calld the twinn Rivalls” in four parts was advertised by John Walsh in the Post Man of 15-17 December at 1s. 6d. ‡ THE HEIRESS: Or the Salamanca Doctor Out-Plotted [Susanna Centlivre?]. Cast not advertised (but see below). (Daily Courant, 29 December)

FIRST EDITION. The Stolen Heiress or the Salamanca Doctor Outplotted. A Comedy. As it is Acted at the New Theatre in Lincolns-Inn-Fields. By Her Majesties Servants (London: William Turner and John Nutt, [1703]). Copy used: Readex. Dramatis Personæ: Governour – Bowman; Count Pirro – Griffith; Gravello – Freeman; Larich – Fieldhouse; Lord Euphenes – Arnold; Palante – Powel; Clerimont – Baile[y]; Eugenio – Booth; Alphonso – Knap; Francisco – Pack; Sancho – Dogget; Tristram – Lee [Leigh]; Rosco – Bright // Lucasia – Mrs Barry; Lavinia – Mrs Prince; Laura – Mrs Lawson.

Prologue Spoke by Mrs Prince. Epilogue, Spoke by Mr Dogget. Publication was announced in the Daily Courant on 18 January.

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. Never Acted before.

COMMENT. Mrs Willis sang “Cælia’s bright Beauty all others transcend” (words and tune by Edward Keen) in this play (Wit and Mirth, VI, 156-157).

COMMENT. The play was published anonymously, and indeed with the author’s sex concealed: the prologue opens, “Our Author fearing his success to day.” Mears’ playlist of 1713 attributes the title to Mrs Carroll (Centlivre’s maiden name), and virtually all authorities have accepted this attribution without comment. Burling (p. 31) points out, however, that Tom Brown’s “A Criticism of Modern Plays” assigns authorship to Mary Pix.

A song for this play by Edward Keen, “Celias bright beautys all other’s transcend,” was published in A Collection of Choicest Songs & Dialogues, 31 October 1703. See Hunter, no. 5, item 39.

‡ THE GOVERNOUR OF CYPRUS [John Oldmixon]. Cast not advertised.

COMMENT. Date of première uncertain; any time after 11 December seems possible. Oldmixon’s dedication implies that the play failed, and a snippy reference to empty benches at tragedy at the other house in the prologue to Tunbridge-Walks may well be a reference to this play. Publication was advertised in the Post Man of 16-19 January 1703 (Nichols Newspapers). Thomas Cross published act music by “Thomas Deane of Worcester.” See Price, p. 174.

‡ TUNBRIDGE-WALKS: or, The Yeoman of Kent [Thomas Baker]. Cast not advertised (but see below).

FIRST EDITION. Tunbridge-Walks: or, the Yeoman of Kent: A Comedy. As it is Act- ed at the Theatre Royal By Her Majesty's Servants. By the Author of the Humour o’ the Age (London: Bernard Lintott, 1703). Copy used: Readex. Dramatis Personæ: Loveworth—Mills; Reynard—Wilks; Woodcock—Johnson; Squib—Pinkethman; Maiden—Bullock // Belinda—Mrs Rogers; Hillaria—Mrs Verbruggen; Mrs Goodfellow—Mrs Powell; Penelope—Mrs Moor; Lucy—Mrs Lucas. Prologue. Spoken by Mr Pinketh- man. Epilogue. By a Friend. Design’d for the Captain [i.e., Squib—Pinkethman].

Dedication: 'Tis from the happy Scene of our Affairs that any can think, or be Diverted with that Ease the Town was pleased to shew at the Representation of this Play; the Success of which I truly Ascribe more to the Justness of the Action, and Favour of the Audience, than either Turn of Plot, or Correctness of Style.

COMMENT. The date of première is estimated from an ad in the Daily Courant of 15 January: “Next Week will be publish’d, The last new Comedy, Entitul’d Tunbridge Walks, or, The Yeoman of Kent. As it is Acted at the Theatre Royal, by Her Majesty’s Servants. Printed for Bernard Lintott.” Publication “Tomorrow” was advertised in the Daily Courant of 28 January. Baker received £32 5s. from Lintot for the copyright on 13 January (Nichols, VIII, 293). In the Post Man of 9-11 February under “This day is published” is an ad for “The new Musick in four parts, performed in the Comedy called Tunbridge Walks. . . Composed by Mr John Barrett, price 1s. 6d.” See Walsh, Harmonia Anglicana [V, 1703], and Price, pp. 227-228.

† Love Betray’d; or, the Agreeable Disappointment [William Burnaby]. Cast not advertised (but see below).

First Edition. Love Betray’d; or, the Agreeable Disappointment. A Comedy. As it was Acted at the Theatre in Lincolns-Inn-Fields. By the Author of The Ladies Visiting-Day (London: D. Brown, F. Coggan, W. Davis, and G. Strahan, 1703). Copy used: Readex. Dramatis Personæ: Moreno—Verbruggen; Drances—Powell; Sebastian—Booth; Taquilet—Doggett; Rodoregue—Fieldhouse; Pedro—Pack // Villaretta—Mrs Bracegirdle; Caesario—Mrs Prince; Dromia—Mrs Leigh; Laura—Mrs Lawson. [This assignment of the women’s roles is apparently garbled; see below.] Prologue, Spoke by Mr Dogget, In a Lawyers Gown. Epilogue, Spoke by Mrs Barry.

Preface: Part of the Tale of this Play, I took from Shakespear [the source is Twelfth Night], and about Fifty of the Lines; Those that are his, I have mark’d with Inverted Comma’s, to distinguish ’em from what are mine. . . . The Conduct of the Drama I broke by design, to make room for a Mask that is mention’d in the last Act, but the House neglecting to have it Set to Musick, the Play came on like a change of Government, the weight of the Calamity fell among the Poor; that is, the chief Persons only were taken care of without any regard to those of Inferiour consideration. . . .

For an Author not to Talk of his Successes, is reckon’d a very difficult modesty, and one may as well stop a Hero’s Mouth after a Campaign, or a Travellor’s after he’s made the Tour of Italy! But ’tis a Secret as great, not to judge of one’s own Work, as not to Quarrel at another’s doing it.

Comment. F. E. Budd, in his edition of The Dramatic Works of William Burnaby
January, 1703  •  SEASON 1702-1703  87

(London: Scholartis Press, 1931), pp. 338, 448, notes that the list of Dramatis Personæ omits Emilia, and that the epilogue strongly implies that Elizabeth Barry acted the part of Villaretta. He therefore emends and adds to the printed cast as follows: Villaretta—Mrs Barry; Cæsario—Mrs Bracegirdle; Emilia—Mrs Prince. This reassignment is consonant with the lines and stature of the three actresses.

The date is undeterminable. Publication was advertised on in the Post Man of 9-11 February, so a première in mid to late January is likely. Act music by William Corbett was published by Walsh in Harmonia Anglicana [V, 1703]. See Price, p. 191. Mrs Hudson [Hodgson] sang Weldon’s “Love in her bosom end my care” (BUCEM, II, 1064, and Hunter, no. 5, item 113). Music by Eccles’s for “Cloe found love for his Psyche in tears” (sung by Mrs Prince) and his “If I hear Orinda swear,” sung by Mrs Bracegirdle, were published in A Collection of Choicest Songs & Dialogues on 31 October 1703. See Hunter, no. 5, items 37 and 100.

COMMENT. The performance of Baker’s Tunbridge-Walks entered by Avery for this day is based on its acceptance by Genest, Latreille, and Nicoll, but it is merely a mis-estimate of the première from an advance notice of publication, which occurred on 29 January.

Thursday 28

DOCUMENT. In an undated petition to the Lord Chamberlain, John Essex complains that Rich has docked his salary unjustly and will not give him a discharge so he can seek work with the other company. On this date Sir John Stanley drafted a summons to Rich on the verso of Essex's petition, ordering Rich to come and explain the situation. (LC 7/3, fol. 81)

Wednesday 24
DOCUMENT. On this date, Sir Edward Northey gave his opinion that Daventry's patent can be used by his heirs and assigns, provided they “do not abuse such Licence . . . notwithstanding the Death of King Charles II.” Printed by Steele in The State of the Case (London: W. Chetwood, et al., 1720), pp. 19-20; reprinted by Blanchard, Tracts and Pamphlets, p. 602.
*COMMENT. *This legal opinion may well have been obtained in connection with Vanbrugh’s preliminary plans for his new Haymarket theatre.

Sunday 28
CONTEMPORARY COMMENT. A famous young woman, an Italian, was hired by our Comedians to sing on the stage during so many plays, for which they gave her 500 pounds: which part (which was her voice alone at the end of 3 Scenes) she performed with such modesty, & grace above all by her skill, as there was never any (of many Eunichs & others) did with their Voice, ever anything comparable to her, she was to go hence to the Court of the K: of Prussia, & I believe [she] carried with her out of this vaine nation about 1000 pounds, every body coveting to heare her at their privat houses, especially the noble men. (Evelyn, Diary, V, 531)
*COMMENT. *The singer is identified as The Baroness (i.e., Joanna Maria Lindelheim) by Lowell Lindgren, “The Accomplishments of the Learned and Ingenious Nicola Francesco Haym (1678-1729),” Studi Musicali, 16 (1987), 257.

‡ THE OLD MODE AND THE NEW, or, Country Miss with her Fourbeloe (by Mr Tho. Durfey). Cast not advertised (but see below). (Daily Courant)

FIRST EDITION. The Old Mode & the New or, Country Miss with her Furbeloe. A Comedy. As it is Acted at the Theatre Royal by her Majesty’s Servants. Written by Mr Tho. D’Urfey (London: Bernard Lintott, Samuel Clark, Francis Faucet, and Lucas Stowkey, [1703]). Copy used: Readex. Dramatis Personæ: Sir Fumbler Oldmode—Johnson; Frederick—Wilks; Will Queenlove—Mills; Monsieur de Pistole—Bowen; Tom Pistole—Cibber; Misterious Maggothead—Pinkeman; Major Bombard—Cross; Captain Crimp—Boyse; Abram—Bullock; Combwig—Fairbank // Lady Oldmode—Mrs Moor; Lucia—Mrs Oldfield; Miss Gatty—Mrs Moor; Probleme—Mrs Knight. [Mrs Moore apparently doubled Lady Oldmode and Miss Gatty.] Prologue Spoken by Mr Pinkeman. Epilogue By Miss Gatty [Mrs Moore].

Dedication to Charles, Duke of Richmond and Lenox: I know some of the Scenes of this Piece were so happy to cause your Diversion, and ingage your Liking, when it had the Honour of your Grace’s Presence at the time of action. . . . I shall not inquire of any ill-natur’d Critick, whether this Comedy be good or no . . . it was read and put to the Test before some of the best Judges the Stage has, and receiv’d with general Liking by both Houses, before the Action; and tho’ the faulty length, a Rock which sometimes (do what we can) we cannot save our selves from splitting on, and some ill Performance of under Parts, made that part of it tedious the first Day; yet I make no doubt in the reading. . . . And those that will but be pleas’d carefully to read the first Act, will find a Story not only intricate and difficult to be contriv’d, but divertive and full of Variety. And as for that part of the Audience, whose Heads full of volatile chimera’s, expecting other sort of flashy Entertainment, would not let ‘em mind the opening of it, and so consequentely lost the Connexion, and indeed the Pleasure of the following Acts, I am not mortified at all at their Censure.

COMMENT: On the excessive length, see the ad for 13 March. Publication “In few days” was advertised in the Daily Courant of 23 March. The play was advertised under “This Day is publish’d” in the Daily Courant of 13 April. Music for “Celladon when spring came on” and “The Valliant Eugene to Vienna is gone” (both sung by Leveridge) was published in A Collection of Choicest Songs & Dialogues on 31 October 1703. See Hunter, no. 5, items 30 and 176.

‡ THE FAIR PENITENT [Nicholas Rowe]. Exact date of première not known. This performance is known from an annotation in a British Library copy, 841.c.8(2): “March ye 15 1703 mon.” Cast not advertised (but see below).

Dedication: I . . . hope that there may be something so moving in the Misfortunes and Distress of the Play, as may be not altogether unworthy of Your Grace’s Pity. This is one of the main Designs of Tragedy, and to excite this generous Pity in the greatest Minds, may pass for some kind of Success in this way of Writing.

CONTEMPORARY COMMENT. The Fair Penitent . . . a very good Play for three Acts; but failing in the two last, answer’d not their Expectation. (Downes, Roscius Anglican us, p. 95) [Downes’ sour view of the play notwithstanding, it was revived in 1715 and was to become a staple of the eighteenth-century London repertory.]

CONTEMPORARY COMMENT. I shall mention . . . an Accident that fell out at this Play, the first Season it was perform’d . . . which I gather’d from that Stage Chronicle, Mr John Bowman [who created the part of Sciolto, and died in 1739 at 88]. Lothario, after he is kill'd by Altamont in the 4th Act, lies dead by Proxy in the 5th, raised on a Bier covered with Black by the Property-man, and the Face whitened by the Barber, the Coat and Perriwig generally filled by one of the Dressers. Most of the capital Actors in the establish'd Theatres have generally a Dresser to themselves, tho' they are paid by the Manager, to be ready, on all Occasions, for Stage-guards, Attendance, &c.

Mr Powell played Lothario, and one Warren, his Dresser, claimed a Right of lying for his Master, and performing the dead Part of Lothario, which he proposed to act to the best Advantage; tho' Powell was ignorant of the Matter. The Fifth Act began, and went on, as usual, with Applause; but about the Middle of the distressful Scene, Powell called aloud for his Man Warren, who as loudly replied, from the Bier on the Stage, Here, Sir! Powell (who, as I said before, was ignorant of the Part his Man was doing) repeated, without Loss of Time, Come here this Moment, you Son of a Whore! or I'll break all the Bones in your Skin. Warren knew his hasty Temper; therefore, without any Reply, jump'd off, with all his Sables about him, which, unfortunately, were tied fast to the Handles of the Bier, and dragg'd after him. But this was not all; the Laugh and Roar began in the Audience, till it frighten'd poor Warren so much, that, with the Bier at his Tail, he threw down Calista (Mrs Barry), and overwhelm'd her with the Table, Lamp, Book, Bones, together with all the Lumber of the Charnel-house. He tug'd, till he broke off his Trammels, and made his Escape; and the Play, at once, ended with immoderate Fits of Laughter: Even the grave Mr Betterton Smil'd in the Tumult, and enjoy'd the Storm. But he would not let the Fair Penitent be play'd any more that Season, till poor Warren's Misconduct was something forgot. (Chetwood, A General History of the Stage, pp. 253-254)

COMMENT. "A Prologue, Sent to Mr Row, To his New Play, call'd The Fair Penitent; Design'd to be Spoken by Mr Betterton; but refus'd" was published as an undated broadside (Foxon P1125) and later reprinted in POAS III (1704), pp. 417-420. It is printed with commentary by Danchin, I, 111-115. Publication of "The new Musick in 4 parts performed in the Tragedy called the Fair Penitent. Composed by Mr Lenton, pr. 1s. 6d." was advertised by Walsh and Hare in the Post Man of 30 March-1 April 1703. Two songs by Eccles, "Hear ye midnight fantomes," sung by Cook and Davis, and "Stay, ah stay, ah turn, ah whither wou'd you fly," sung by Hodgson, were published in A Collection of Choicest Songs & Dialogues, 31 October 1703. See Hunter, no. 5, items 74 and 159.

At Five Shillings each Ticket. [Time not stated.] (Daily Courant, 15 March)

COMMENT. Robert Wilks evidently produced this concert for his own benefit.

COMMENT. All of these documents are part of John Vanbrugh's preliminary calculations toward the United Company he hoped to establish in the new theatre he was planning to build. Nicoll caused great confusion by printing and misdating these documents "almost certainly the late summer of 1707," supposing that they were connected with the union of 1708. For the correct date, see Judith Milhous, "The Date and Import of the Financial Plan for a United Theatre Company in LC 7/3," Maske und Kothurn, 21 (1975), 81-88.

‡ THE FICKLE SHEPHERDESS [anonymous adaptation of Thomas Randolph's Amynatas (1630)]. Cast not advertised (but see below).

FIRST EDITION. The Fickle Shepherdess: As it is Acted in the New Theatre in Lincoln's-Inn Fields. By Her Majesties Servants. Play'd all by Women (London: Printed for the Author, and Sold by William Turner, William Davis, and John Nutt, 1703). Copy used: Readex. Dramatis Personæ: Clorinda—Mrs Barry; Amintas—Mrs Bracegirdle; Damon—Mrs Bowman; Alexis—Mrs Prince; Menalchas—Mrs Willis; Adrastus—Mrs Lee; Amayllis—Mrs Porter; Urania—Mrs Alison; Flavia—Mrs Martin; Claius—Mrs Lawson; Shepherd—Miss Parsons; Dorylas—The little Boy. Prologue Spoke by Mrs Porter. Epilogue Writ by Mr Burnaby, and Spoke by Mrs Barry.

Dedication to Lady Gower: I shou'd not dare to lay so Mean a Trifle at your Feet, for which I have nothing to say, but that it is Humble and Innocent . . . wholly free from Vice, or any Expression that may shake either Piety or Modesty. It is abreviated from an Author famous in his time.

COMMENT. Neither performance nor publication was advertised, so the date remains uncertain. We follow Danchin (I, 116) in placing it in April on account of references to spring in the prologue ("Nature now her gayest Liveries wears, / And verdent Spring in all her Bloom appears"), but see 27 May. We have presumed that "Miss" Parsons (otherwise unknown) is the Mrs Parsons active at Lincoln's Inn Fields about this time (see Biographical Dictionary, XI, 217), and have indexed accordingly. As best we can determine, all roles for “Miss” Allison after 1700 belong to Maria Allison. The Biographical Dictionary (I, 67) has four Miss Allisons (including an Al- linson) where we see just two—Betty (fl. 1693-1699?) and Maria (fl. 1698-1705). A song, “Hast, give me wings,” sung by Mrs Bracegirdle, was published in Eccles’s A Collection of Songs on 14 November 1704 (Hunter, no. 8, item 76).

‡ THE FAIR EXAMPLE, or, The Modish Citizens [Richard Estcourt]. Cast not advertised (but see below). (Daily Courant, 9 April)

FIRST EDITION. The Fair Example: or the Modish Citizens. A Comedy. As it was Acted at the Theatre Royal in Drury Lane. By Mr Estcourt (London: Bernard Lintott, 1706). Copy used: Readex. Dramatis Personae: Sir Charles—Mills; Springlove—Cibber; Sir Rice-ap-Adam—Johnson; Mr Whimsey—Penkethman; Mr Symons—Norris; Mr Fancy—Bullock // Mrs Whimsey—Mrs Verbruggen; Lucia—Mrs Oldfield; Florinda—Mrs Knight; Flora—Mrs Lucas; Mrs Furnish—Mrs Powell; Lettice—Mrs Mills. Prologue Spoken by Mr Mills. Epilogue Spoken by Mr Cibber.

The play was not published until 1706. Estcourt provides a lengthy Epistle Dedicatory “To the Serene Christopher Rich, Esq; Chief Patentee, Governour and Manager of Her Majesty’s Theatre Royal,” most of which concerns Vanbrugh’s efforts to negotiate or force a new theatrical union after the opening of the Queen’s Theatre, Haymarket, in April 1705. Estcourt mentions that his play is based on Dancourt’s Les Bourgeoisies à la Mode, and that Vanbrugh has since brought out his own version of the play (The Confederacy) at the Haymarket. Of the success of his own effort, Estcourt says merely that it “was sent to you by me above three Years ago . . . [and] was acted sometimes, and put by ever since.” Estcourt praises Rich warmly (perhaps ironically) for supporting the stage and mounting new plays, and comments rather flippantly on the “war” being waged between the two theatres.

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. Never Acted before . . . a new Comedy. . . . To begin exactly at half an hour after Five.

COMMENT. The cast in the 1706 edition appears to be that of the first production. A song set by Weldon and sung by Mary Anne Campion (“Young Mirtillo brisk and gay”) was published in Weldon’s Third Book of Songs, advertised in the Post Man on 11 May 1703. See Hunter, no. 4.

THE FAIR EXAMPLE or, The Modish Citizens [Estcourt]. Cast not known (but see 10 April).

COMMENT. This performance is known from a handbill preserved in the Folger. “Never Acted but twice. At the Theatre Royal in Drury-Lane, this present Tuesday being the 13th day of April, will be presented, A New Comedy call’d, The Fair Ex- ample, Or, The Modish Citizens. To begin exactly at half an hour after Five. No Money to be Return’d after the Curtain is drawn up. By Her Majesty’s Servants. Vivat Regina.” (Folger Bill Box G2.D84.1703d) This is the earliest Drury Lane play- bill in the Folger.

COMMENT. This was presumably the author’s benefit, though the handbill does not say so.

‡ AS YOU FIND IT [Charles Boyle]. Cast not advertised (but see below). (Daily Courant, 27 April)

FIRST EDITION. As You find it. A Comedy. As it is Acted at the New-Theatre, in Little-Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, by Her Majesty's Servants (London: R. Parker, 1703). Copy used: Readex. Dramatis Personæ: Hartley—Verbruggen; Sir Abel Single—Dogget; Jack Single—Pack; Bevil—Betterton; Ledger—Powel; Sir Pert—Bowman // Mrs Hartley—Mrs Bowman; Orinda—Mrs Bracegirdle; Eugenia—Mrs Barry; Chloris—Mrs Lee; Lucy—Mrs Prince. Prologue, Spoke by Mr Betterton. Epilogue, Written by the Right Honourable George Granville, Esq; And Spoke by Mr Powel.

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. At the Desire of several Persons of Quality. . . . With the Masque of ACIS AND GALATEA [Motteux and Eccles] (cast not advertised), and the rest of the Musical Entertainments in The Mad Lover. And variety of Singing between the Acts by Mrs Hodgson, Mr Cook and Mr Davis. Also several Entertainments of Dancing by Mrs Elford and Mr Firbanch [Firbank]. For the Benefit of Mrs Porter, who performs a part in it [i.e., the Mad Lover entertainments?] she never acted before.

COMMENT. The play was produced and published anonymously, but Charles Boyle later included it as his own work as an addendum to his edition of The Dramatick Works of Roger Boyle, Earl of Orrery (1739). Using a première as a benefit is highly unusual, especially since Mary Porter apparently took no role in As You Find It. Act music by William Corbett was published by Walsh in Harmonia Anglicana [VI, 1703]. See Price, p. 149. A song, “He that has whom he lov’d possesst,” music by Eccles and sung by Mary (?) Hodgson, was published in A Collection of Choicest Songs & Dialogues, 31 October 1703. See Hunter, no. 5, item 86.

DOCUMENT. To the Right Honorable the Earl of Jersey Lord Chamberlain of her Majesties Household. The Humble Petition of John Verbruggen.

Sheweth That Mr William Smith One of the cheife Actors & Sharers of the Company in Lincolns Inn Fields dying about Michaelmas 1696 & the Company being in great distress for one to performe his parts your petitioner upon their extraordinary sollicitations & fair promises withdrew himselfe by the Lord Chamberlains leave from the Company in Covent Garden [i.e., Drury Lane theatre], where he was a principall Actor, & ingaged himselfe as a sharing actor & Manager in this Company in the stead of the said William Smith.

That by Articles of Agreement dated 27th October 1696 made between Mr Betterton Mrs Barry Mrs Bracegirdle Mr Bowman Mr Underhill Mr Bright & Mrs Leigh then sharing Actors in the said Company on the one parte & your petitioner on the other parte. It was agreed that your petitioner should be admitted to have as well one share in Ten to be divided of the Common stock of Scenes Clothes Properties &c. As also of all the mon-eys profits & perquisites in any manner arising from the said playhouse as fully & proportionably & in such manner as any other sharer to commence from the 1st of January then next.

That your petitioner on his parte did thereby covenant to conforme himselfe to the Rules of the Company & that he should proportionably with the other sharers pay all Debts relating to the said playhouse.

That Mr Betterton then having one share & and halfe quitted halfe a quarter of his share to your petitioner & it was also agreed that your petitioner should have 20s. a week paid him out of the Generall Proceeds as assistant Manager to Mr Betterton. So that your petitioner for acting and managing might have an equivalent with him.

That your petitioner was accordingly admitted into the said share & salary & was then informed that the Debts did not exceed £200.

That sometime after your petitioner complained to them how small a share of profits came to him, not sufficient for a bare subsistence & desired to have an account of Accounts in Generall & subscription moneys & how the same were disposed of & desired a list of the debts but could never to this time obtain the same.

And as for Mr Bowman Bright Underhill & Mrs Leigh they are aggrieved in the same manner & observe that Mr Betterton Mrs Barry and Mrs Bracegirdle have made great gains to themselves by benefit plays & other wise.

That about Michaelmas last they told your petitioner that the debts of the Company are now about £800 & after an attendance on your Lordship Itt was agreed on that no sharer should have any benefit play but that all the clear profits should be applyed to discharge the debts, till all should be paid saving that some parte of the profits in the meantime should be shared for a bare subsistence only.

That this last winter the Receipts have been extraordinary great [espec-]ially ever since the Italian Woman [Margarita de l'Epine?] hath sung & yet they pretend the debts are not all paid altho they have stopt your petitioners management money of 20s. a week & for 7 months last past have not paid him for his divident full 30s. altho the persons at sallary have been abated many days pay. So that your petitioner hath reason to believe that more moneys have been stopt then really the debts amounted to & yet they pretend that many debts are still owing, but your petitioner could never obtain a just account of them. And now Mr Betterton who appeared before Sir John Stanley with your petitioner & with him protested against all benefit plays hath ordered Bills to be printed for Othello to be acted on ffriday next with singing by the Italian Woman for his own benefit, & tis said she is to sing twice more in plays for Mrs Barry & Mrs Bracegirdle & then to leave off[f]. So that those three design still as they have done to reap all the benefit to themselves to the wrong and damage of your petitioner and the rest of the Company & leave your petitioner lyable to the debts they pretend due.

That ever since Mr Betterton and your petitioner were before Sir John Stanley He hath constantly declared against any sharers having any benefit plays & hath signified as much by notice under his hand (purporting that he expected his proportionable share of all profits arising by sharers benefits after charges deducted) directed to Mr Betterton & the rest of the sharers.

Your petitioner now humbly prays your Lordship to give order.

1. That a List of such debts as have been paid since Michaelmas last & of such debts as are still owing, if any & of such debts as were owing & to whom when your petitioner came first into the Company in 1696 may be forthwith delivered to your petitioner.

2dly That all the Books & papers of accounts may be produced together with all the subscriptions & an Accountant on your petitioners behalfe permitted [to] peruse and examine the same whereby your petitioner may be truly informed of all matters & what his share & proportion according to his Contract amounts to ever since his coming into the Company & that right may be done him therein without a suite at Law.

3dly That in case your Lordship thinks fit that your petitioner shall play his part in Othello on Friday next that then the Receipts of that day & afterwards all others of like kind (after payment of usual charge) may be divided among all the players according and in proportion to their shares & with it persuant to your petitioners original Contract that Mr Smith the Treasurer be ordered to pay the same. And your petitioner shall ever pray &c. (LC 7/3, fol. 146)

COMMENT. Nicoll, I, 384-385, dated this petition “c. 1697/8 or later,” but Judith Milhous has shown that it must date from the spring of 1703. See “The Date and Import of ‘Verbruggen’s Petition’ in LC 7/3,” Archiv, 217 (1980), 100-102. If the performance of Othello referred to in the petition is that of Friday 21 May 1703 (as seems likely), then this petition must date from mid-May.

§ LOVE’S CONTRIVANCE, or, Le Medecin malgre Luy [Susanna Centlivre]. Cast not advertised (but see below). (Daily Courant)

FIRST EDITION. Love’s Contrivance, or, Le Médecin malgré Lui. A Comedy. As it is Acted at the Theatre Royal in Drury-Lane (London: Bernard Lintott, 1703). Copy used: Readex. Dramatis Personæ: Selfwill—Bullock; Sir Toby Doubtful—Johnson; Bellmie—Wils; Octavio—Mills; Martin—Norris // Lucinda—Mrs Rogers; Belliza—Mrs Oldfield; Martin’s Wife—Mrs Norris. Prologue. Epilogue [implicitly spoken by Henry Norris).

Preface: Writing is a kind of Lottery... The Critics cavil most about Decorums, and cry up Aristotle's Rules... but I believe Mr Rich will own, he got more by the Trip to the Jubilee [i.e., Farquhar's The Constant Couple] than by the most uniform Piece the Stage cou'd boast of e'er since. I do not say this by way of condemning the Unity of Time, Place, and Action... The following Poem I think has nothing can disoblige the nicest Ear; and tho' I did not observe the Rules of Drama, I took peculiar Care to dress my Thoughts in such a modest Stile, that it might not give Offence to any. Some Scenes I confess are partly taken from Molier, and I dare be bold to say it has not suffer'd in the Translation. When first I took those Scenes of Molier's, I design'd but three Acts; for that reason I chose such as suited best with Farce... for what I added to 'em, I believe my Reader will allow to be a different Stile, at least some very good Judges thought so, and in spight of me divided it into five Acts, believing it might pass amongst the Comedies of these Times. And indeed I have no reason to complain, for I confess it met a Reception beyond my Expectation: I must own my self infinitely oblig'd to the Players, and in a great Measure the Success was owing to them, especially Mr Wilks, who extended his Faculties to such a Pitch, that one may almost say he out-play'd himself; and the Town must confess they never saw three different Characters by one Man acted so well before, and I think my self extremely indebted to him, likewise to Mr Johnson, who in his way I think the best Comedian of the Age.

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. A new Comedy never acted before.

COMMENT. In Act V, Selfwill says "I spoke to some of the Singers in the Playhouse to be ready if I sent for them, and I gave them an Invitation to my House, and one of them is within already... till Sir Toby comes she shall divert you." Mrs Shaw then enters, sings (the text of the song is not printed), and is given "five Guineas" (p. 53). Publication "Tomorrow" was announced in the Daily Courant of Friday 11 June. The Mad Dialogue compos’d by the late Mr Henry Purcell, and another dialogue that was perform’d originally in the Opera call’d, The World in the Moon. And several other new Songs compos’d by Mr Weldon. Also several new Entertainments of Dancing by Monsieur Du Ruell and Mrs Campion, For her own Benefit.

Wednesday 23

‡ VICE RECLAIM’D, or, The Passionate Mistress [Richard Wilkinson]. Cast not advertised (but see below). (Daily Courant)

FIRST EDITION. Vice Reclaim’d: or, the Passionate Mistress. A Comedy. As it is Acted at the Theatre Royal, By Her Majesty’s Servants. Written by Richard Wilkinson, Gent. (London: Bernard Lintott, 1703). Copy used: Readex. Dramatis Personae: Sir Feeble Goodwill – Johnson; Wilding – Wilks; Gainlove – Williams; Fondle – Bullock; Apish – Bickerstaff; Ralph – Norris // Wid. Purelight – Mrs Kent; Lucia – Mrs Temple; Annabella – Mrs Rogers; Mrs Haughty – Mrs Knight; Malapert – Mrs Lucas; Betty – Mrs Cox; Mrs Rhenish – Mrs Powell. Prologue by Mr Wilks. Epilogue by Mr Norris as Drawer.

Preface: I have found an Indulgent Audience, that notwithstanding the time of Year, seem’d pleas’d, and not uneasie, and I confess the Success beyond my Expectation. . . . I am beholding to the Actors in general for their Care and civil usage, but particularly to Mr Wilks, who was very diligent during the time of Rehearsal, and has added Life to the Part, by a Genteel Sprightliness in the Action.

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. A New Comedy . . . To begin at half an Hour after Five.

COMMENT. The advance notice on 22 June specifies “never acted before.” Publication “This Day” was advertised in the Daily Courant of 9 July. Wilkinson received £10 15s. from Lintot for the copyright on 26 June (Nichols, VIII, 304).

Thursday 24

VICE RECLAIM’D, or, The Passionate Mistress [Wilkinson]. Cast not advertised (but see 23 June). (Daily Courant)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. Never Acted but once. . . . To begin at half an hour after Five.

Friday 25

VICE RECLAIM’D, or, The Passionate Mistress [Wilkinson]. Cast not known (but see 22 June).

COMMENT. This performance (presumably the author’s benefit) is deduced from ads for the second night on 24 June and the fourth night on the 26th.

Saturday 26

VICE RECLAIM’D, or, The Passionate Mistress [Wilkinson]. Cast not known (but see 22 June). (Daily Courant)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. Never Acted but Thrice. . . . With Entertainments of Singing and Danceing. To begin at half an hour after Five.

Monday 28

VICE RECLAIM’D, or, The Passionate Mistress [Wilkinson]. Cast not known (but see 22 June). (Daily Courant)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. With Entertainments of Singing and Danceing. Being the Fifth time of its Acting.

Tuesday 29

COMMENT. Wilkinson’s Vice Reclaim’d may well have received its sixth night (and second author benefit?) on this night. There is no newspaper ad for the third night, so lack of one this night may simply mean that publicity was left up to the author.

Wednesday 30

THE HUMOUR OF THE AGE [Baker]. Cast not advertised. To which will be added, an ‡ INTERLUDE OF CITY CUSTOMS, by several Aldermens Ladies. To be perform’d by Mr Cibber, Mr Bullock, Mr Norris, and others. (Daily Courant)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. At the Desire of several Persons of Quality. . . . Written by the Author of The Yeoman of Kent. . . . With several New Entertainments of Danceing by the Famous Monsieur Du Ruell, it being the last time of his Danceing this Season [but see 1 July]. Also an extraordinary comical Entertainment between Scaramouch, Harlaquin, and Punchanello. To begin at half an hour after Five.

COMMENT. The Interlude of City Customs was apparently not published or revived, and nothing else is known of it. An “Epilogue spoke by Mr Pinkeman to a Comedy call’d the Humours of the Age” was printed in The Second Part of Penkethman’s Jests (1721), and is reprinted by Danchin (I, 134-135), who suggests plausibly that it was used on this night.

THE RELAPSE, or, Vertue in Danger [Vanbrugh]. Miss Hoyden—Mrs Bicknell. (Daily Courant)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. With several Entertainments of Singing, viz. A Song compos’d by Mr Henry Purcell beginning, Genius of England, &c. and perform’d by Mr Leveridge; and a Dialogue by him and Mrs Campion, beginning, Fair Iris, &c. Also variety of Danceing by Monsieur Du Ruell, who has but a short time to stay in England. With several other entertainments that are express’d in the Bills . . . . For Mr Fairbank’s and her [Mrs Bicknell’s] benefit.

Saturday 3

THE PILGRIM [Vanbrugh, adapting Fletcher]. Cast not advertised. (Daily Courant, 2 July)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. For the Benefit of Mrs Lucas. . . . A Comedy . . . Revis’d with large Alterations. With a new Epilogue to be spoken in a Quakers Dress by the little Girl that play’d the Part of Queen Bess in Anna Bullen [Miss Bickerstaff]. To which will be added a Masque of Musick Compos’d by the late Famous Mr Henry Purcell. And variety of Entertainments of Singing and Danceing, which will be express’d in the great Bills.

COMMENT. The special epilogue was published later in the month as part of a pamphlet advertised in the Flying Post of 24-27 July; it was evidently in print by 15 July, when Luttrell bought and dated his copy, now in the British Library. The “Epilogue to be Spoken by Miss Bickerstaff, in Quaker’s Habit” is reprinted by Danchin, I, 136.
Monday 5

TIMON OF ATHENS, or, The Man-Hater [Shadwell, adapting Shakespeare].
Cast not advertised. (Daily Courant, 3 July)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. For the Benefit of Mr Newman. . . . With variety of Entertainments, which will be express'd in the Great Bills. Being the last time of Acting it this Season.

COMMENT. A “Prologue for Timon of Athens” and an “Epilogue, relating to the Intended Theatre in the Haymarket” were written and used for this performance, and published as a small pamphlet. Luttrell's acquisition date was 15 July 1703 (British Library 164.m.33). Both pieces are printed by Danchin, I, 137-139.

Monday 5

DOCUMENT. "A Prologue to the University of Oxford. Spoke by Mr Betterton, on Monday, July the 5th, 1703" was published shortly thereafter as a broadside (Foxon T455) and was reprinted, along with a King's Company prologue and epilogue in reply to it, in a pamphlet entitled A Prefatory Prologue by way of Introduction to one Spoken by Mr Betterton at Oxford and reprinted again in The Players Turn'd Academicks. Basing his attribution on an MS annotation in the British Library copy of the broadside, Foxon attributes the present prologue to Joseph Trapp. For a reprint with commentary, see Danchin, I, 140-141. For discussion of the visit to Oxford and resulting controversy, see the headnote to the present season.

Tuesday 6

THE YEOMAN OF KENT [i.e., Tunbridge-Walks] [Baker]. Cast not advertised. (Daily Courant)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. For the Benefit of Mrs Kent. . . . With several Entertainments as are express'd in the Great Bills. Being the last time of Acting it this Season.

Wednesday 7

THE COMICAL RIVALS, or, The School-Boy [Cibber]. Cast not advertised. [Also] The select Scenes of Nikin, being the fourth Act of THE OLD BATCHELLOR [Congreve]. Cast not advertised. And the comical Scenes of The Angry Doctor, and, The Doubting Philosopher, being the last Act of LE MEDICIN MALGRE LUY [i.e., Centlivre's Love's Contrivance]. Cast not advertised. (Daily Courant)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. Several Dramatick Entertainments. . . . With variety of Singing and Dancing.

Wednesday 7

DOCUMENT. The Presentment of the Grand Jury of the City of London, the 7th of July, 1703, at Justice Hall in the Old Baily, in the Second year of our Sovereign Lady Anne, Queen of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, &c.

It was with great satisfaction that we heard in the excellent charge given us at Guild-Hall, of the visible decrease of Vice and Prophaness amongst us, to which we doubt not but the repeated Proclamations of our most Excellent Queen, and the care of this Honourable Court and the Magistrates of this City, in a due Execution of the Laws, hath greatly contributed.

But as there is something yet wanting towards the carrying on a New Reformation of Manners, so we think it our Duty Humbly to propose the consideration of it to this Honourable Court, viz. The having some effectual course taken (if possible) to prevent the Youth of this City from resorting to the Play-Houses, which we rather mention, because the Play-House Bills are again posted up throughout the City, in contempt of a former Presentment, and a positive order of the Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen to the contrary, as also because we are informed that a Play-House within the Liberties of this City, which has been of late disused and neglected [i.e., Dorset Garden], is at this time refitting in order to be used as formerly.

We do not presume to prescribe to this Honourable Court, but we cannot question, but that if they shall think fit, Humbly to Address Her Majesty in this Case, she will be Graciously pleased to prevent it.

We farther think our selves obliged Humbly to propose, that some Regulation of Bartholomew-Fair may be speedily thought on; Whereas we are informed that at least some hundred Persons are generally Revelling till late at Night, as well Strangers as Inhabitants of this City; at Musick-Houses, Drolls, Lotteries, &c. to the Dishonour of the City, the Corrupting its Youth and the Encouragement of Lewd and Disorderly Persons, quite contrary to the ancient design and first institution of the Fair. An instance of the great Mischiefs that consequently attend such Tumults, hath been this Sessions brought before this Honourable Court in the proof of a Barbarous Murther of a Constable in the Execution of his Office, in a Neighbouring Fair. (Post Man, 10-13 July)

Tuesday 13

THE SPANISH WIVES [Pix]. Cast not advertised. (Daily Courant, 13 July)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. A Comedy of three Acts. . . . With several Entertainments of Singing and Dancing, as will be express'd in the Bills.

Tuesday 13

REPORT. On this day Vanbrugh wrote to Jacob Tonson about his plans for the Haymarket theatre. He says he has paid £2000 for the ground, but will get his money back out of “the Spare ground”; claims that his design is “very different from any Other House in being,” but has been approved by all who have seen the plans; and asks Tonson to obtain a copy of “Palladio in French” for him. (Folger MS C.c.1[49])

Friday 16

THE FOOLS PREFERMENT, or, The Three Dukes of Dunstable [Durfe]. Cast not advertised. (Daily Courant, 15 July)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. A Comedy (not Acted these Fifteen Years). . . . To which will be spoken a new Prologue, to introduce the Reading of that spoken by Mr Betterton to the University of Oxford; in which are some Reflections on the Judgments of the town. With a new Epilogue in answer to it.

COMMENT: “A Prologue to the University of Oxford Spoke by Mr Betterton, on Monday, July the 5th, 1703” (attributed in MS to Joseph Trapp) was printed as a broadside (see 5 July). The special prologue and epilogue spoken in answer on the present occasion at Drury Lane were printed in A Prefatory Prologue, By way of Introduction, to one Spoken by Mr Betterton at Oxford and reprinted in The Players Turn’d Academicks: “A Prefatory Prologue . . . Spoken by Mr Mills at the Theatre-Royal in Drury-Lane, on Friday the 16th of July, 1703” and “The Epilogue, By way of Answer . . . Spoken by Mr Mills.” Both are reprinted by Danchin, I, 142-145.

Tuesday 20

DOCUMENT. On this day the Court of Aldermen ordered “that no Person do hereafter presume to Put up or affix any playbills “on ye Posts and other publick places within this City or Liberties thereof”; directed constables to apprehend offenders; and “further Ordered That this Order be forthwith Printed and Affixed up in the most publick places of this City.” (Corporation of London Record Office, Repertories, Court of Aldermen, Vol. 107, pp. 460-462)

COMMENT. According to testimony in P.R.O. C8/599/77 (summarized by Hotson, p. 308), the Patent Company acted 175 times at Drury Lane between this date and 1 August 1704. Unlike previous years, no special breakdown is given for the summer company.

ENTERTAINMENTS. At the Consort-Room . . . will be presented several Italian Interludes by the best Performers in their Kind. First some mimical Entertainments by a Famous Scaramouch and Harlequin, who lately perform'd before the Court of Hanover and their Prussian Majesties, now arriv'd in England. Also an extraordinary Performance on the Manag'd Horse by the greatest Master of the Age, exceeding whatever has been done by any other, especially his resting on one hand with his whole Body extended, whilst he drinks several Glasses of Wine, and then throwing himself a Somerset over the Horse's head. And most excellent Danceing on the Rope with and without a Pole, by the two famous French Maids so much admir'd, for surpassing all others in their Art, that they have been presented with Medals at most of the Courts in Europe. . . . And a Stage built for the Performers. (Daily Courant, 26 July)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. For the Entertainment of Persons of Quality and Gentry. . . . Tickets are given out at the Place the same day by Mr Pinkeman, who has taken care to provide places for Persons of Quality at Five Shillings each, and the lower at half a Crown. . . . Beginning at Six a Clock in the Evening. No Person to be admitted in a Mask.

COMMENT. The ad of 22 July says seven o'clock, but those of 24 and 26 July say six.

ENTERTAINMENTS. [As 27 July, plus:] You will also have an additional Entertainment by Scaramouch and Harlequin. (Daily Courant, 29 July)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. Beginning at Seven a Clock in the Evening. Prices 2s. 6d. and 1s. 6d. Tickets are given out at the Place the same day by Mr Pinkeman.

August 1703

CONTEMPORARY COMMENT. In Heraclitus Ridens of this date is a reply to Grand Jury attacks on the theatre and praise for the actors for “a Piece of charity that was not expected from ‘em, giv[ing] the Town a Whole Days Playing [i.e., the profits from a performance] towards Rebuilding one of our Churches” at Oxford. The author goes on to defend “their going on with their Repairs in Dorset-Garden,” saying that “It’s Mr Kill——‘s [Killigrew’s] Business to see that nothing Immoral be Acted there.”

CONCERT. By the Request of several Persons of Quality, will be a great Consort of Musick (Mr Elford and Mr Weldon will perform several new Songs) all compos’d on purpose for this Entertainment by the said Mr Weldon. Some of the Songs to be accompanied by a Flute by Mr Peasable, and a new Symphony for a Flute and a Violin by him. And the famous Signior Gasparini, who will perform several Italian Sonatas accompanied by Mr Dupar, and other great Symphonies by the best Masters. Beginning exactly at Five a clock in the Evening and to end at Seven, because of the Danceing after. Five Shillings a Ticket, and to be had at White’s Chocolate-House, and Garaway’s Coffee-House. This Consort to be perform’d but once, because of the Queen’s going to the Bath. Note, The Tide serves at Seven a clock in the Morning and Light Nights. (Daily Courant)

Thursday 12

REPORT. They write from Tunbridge Wells, that there is arrived there that famous Italian Lady Signiora Franciaca Margareta de L'epine, that gives every week Entertainments of Musick, all Compos'd by that great Master Signior Jacomo Greber, perform'd to the content and great satisfaction of all the Nobility and Gentry, which are in such great numbers there, as has not been seen these many years, the said Musick is perform'd at New-Bounds, at Southbrough, near the said Wells. (Post Man, 10-12 August)

Saturday 14

DOCUMENT. On this day, John Vanbrugh brought suit against Thomas Holford, charging that Holford had made an agreement to rent him part of the ground for the new Haymarket theatre, but is now refusing to carry out the agreement unless Vanbrugh pays him “unreasonable” sums of money. (P.R.O. C6/338/78)

COMMENT. For a fuller summary, see Document Register, no. 1732.

Saturday 21

CONCERT. In the great Room at Hamstead-Wells . . . at Five a clock in the Evening will be perform'd a great Consort of Vocal and Instrumental Musick by the best Masters, several single Songs and two part Songs by Mr Cook and Mr Davis. Tickets to be had at North's Coffee-House in King-street near Guild-Hall, at the Swan Coffee-House in Bloomsbury, and at the Wells, at Half a Crown a Ticket. (Daily Courant)

Saturday 21

DOCUMENT. The Observator of 18-21 August carries the following announcement by the Lord Mayor, prohibiting the hiring of booths for plays at Bartholomew Fair. “The Queen's most excellent Majesty, as also the Lords and Commons assembled in Parliament, having expressed their great Sense of the deplorable Increase of Prophaness, Vice and Debauchery in this Kingdom, and their earnest Zeal and Desires of Reformation, and Prevention thereof for the future; and Her Majesty having by Her Royal Proclamation commanded and required all Her Magistrates and Ministers of Justice, to put the Laws in full and due Execution against such Offenders: This Court, as well in Obedience thereunto, as out of their own Hearty Desire to promote Reformation in the Premises, to the Honour of Almighty God, of the Queen, and of this City, and the good Government thereof, having taken into their serious Consideration the great Prophaness, Vice and Debauchery too frequently used and practiced in Bartholomew-Fair, and to prevent the same for the future, do hereby strictly charge and command all Persons concern'd in the said Fair, and in the Sheds and Booths to be Erected and Built therein, or Places adjacent; That they do not Let, Set, Hire, or Use any Booth, Shed, Stall, or other Erection whatsoever, to be Used or Employed contrary to Law, for Interludes, Stage-Plays, Comedies, Gaming-places, Lotteries Musick-meetings, or other Occasions or Opportunities for enticing, assembling or congregating Idle, Loose, Vicious and Debauch'd People together, under Colour and Pretence of Innocent Diversions and Recreation: But that all Booths, Sheds, Stalls, Shops, and other Erections during the said Fair to be had and made shall be Us'd, Exercis'd and Employ'd for Merchandizes, Trade and Commerce, according to the good Intents and Purposes designed in the Granting, Erecting and Establishing of the said Fair. And all Persons are hereby required to take Notice hereof, and yield Obedience hereunto, as they will answer the contrary thereof at their Perils.”

COMMENT. To judge from the following ads, the prohibition was not effective.
Monday 23

THE HISTORY OF BATEMAN, or, The Unhappy Marriage [anon.]. With the comical Humours of Sparrow his Man Perform’d by Mr Dogget. (Daily Courant, 21 August)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. At Parker’s and Dogget’s Booth near Hosier-Lane end in Bartholomew-Fair. . . . With variety of Scenes and Machines, Singing and Dancing, never seen before in the Fair.

Monday 23

ENTERTAINMENTS. Her Majesty’s only Company of Rope-Dancers. At Barnes and Finley’s Booth, over against the Cross Daggers, (being the same ground where it stood last year) during the usual time of Bartholomew Fair, will be seen the most Famous Rope-Dancers of Europe, who perform such great varieties in Dancing, Walking the slack Rope, Vaulting and tumbling, that the like were never before seen; you will likewise see my Lady MARY perform such curious Steps on the Dancing Rope, to the Wonder and Amazement of all Spectators. (Post Man, 17-19 August)

Monday 23

ENTERTAINMENTS. At the Great Booth over against the Hospital-Gate, during the time of Bartholomew-Fair, will be seen the Dancing on the Ropes, after the French and Italian Fashion, by a Company of the finest Performers that ever yet have been seen in the whole World. For in the same Booth will be seen the two Famous French Maidens, so much admired in all Places and Countries where ever they come, (especially in May-Fair last) where they gain’d the highest Applause from all the Nobility and Gentry, for their wonderful Performance on the Rope, both with and without a Pole; so far out doing all others that have been seen of their Sex, as gives a general Satisfaction to all that ever yet beheld them. To which is added, Vaulting on the High-Rope, and Tumbling on the Stage. As also Vaulting on two Horses, on the great Stage, at once. The Stage being built after the Italian manner, on which you will see the Famous Scaramouch and Harlequin. With several other Surprising Entertainments, too tedious here to mention. Perform’d by the greatest Masters now in Europe. The like never seen before in England. (Daily Courant)

Monday 23

THE FAMOUS HISTORY OF DORASTUS AND FAWNIA [anon.]. (Daily Courant)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. At Parker’s Booth between the two Rope-Dancers during the time of Bartholomew-Fair. . . . With several Entertainments of Vocal and Instrumental Musick. With very pleasant Dialogues and Antick Dances. Never before seen in the Fair.

Tuesday 24

JEPTHA’S RASH VOW, or, The Virgin Sacrifice [anon.]. (Daily Courant)

ADVERTISEMENT DETAILS. At Pinkeman’s, Bullock’s, and Simpson’s Booth. Over against the Hospital Gate in Smithfield, (during the Time of Bartholomew-Fair) will be presented an extraordinary Entertainment after the best Manner. . . . With the Comical Humours of Nurse and her Two Sons, Toby and Ezekiel. Together with the Pleasant manner of Didimo Toby’s Man: Also several Diverting Performances of Singing and Dancing. The Comedy being all new Writ. And the Parts of Toby and Ezekiel by the Two Famous Comedians, Mr Pinkeman, and Mr Bullock.

Wednesday 25

CONTEMPORARY COMMENT. The editor of the Observator devoted almost half an issue to theatrical subjects. (1) I told you of my Lord Mayors Orders concerning the Plays and Drolls in Smithfield, and against putting up the Play-House Bills in the City; and Yesterday I was told that several Wicked Persons had torn down those Orders where ever they found 'em Pasted up, and that there are several Booths now building in Smithfield, contrary to that Order. . . . [Answer:] If they find any of the flagitious Actors in Booths at Smithfield Fair, they may take them up by a Constable, and carry them before a Justice of the Peace, and Bind them over to the next Sessions: For what is a Company of Fellows in Disguised and Formidable Habits, with naked Swords in their hands, in the midst of a Fair, Granted by Patent only for Commerce and Trade, but a Formidable Riot? (2) There is one of the News Papers says, the Players have taken a Tennis Court at the Bath, which they have formed into a Theatre, where they are to act during Her Majesties stay at that Place . . . . I am sure that City had better receive a Thousand Pick-Pockets than Ten Players. . . . (3) What the Plays are at Smithfield I can’t tell, but I suppose them much of a piece with those that are Acted at other Play-Houses . . . . [concluding with what the writer regards as a blasphemous and immoral quotation from The Fickle Shepherdess.] (Observer, 21-25 August)

COMMENT. The following item and the Drury Lane advertisement for 6 October below document the continued presence in Bath of at least part of the Drury Lane company.

Saturday 28

ADVERTISEMENT. Deserted from Her Majesty’s Company of Stage Players at the Bath, with all his Cloaths and Accoutrements, after having Receiv’d Advanc’d Money; a Man that writes himself a Famous Comedian. Suppos’d to have Enter’d himself among the Socks and Buskins in Bartholomew-Fair, and taken his Journey thro’ the Allurement of a Thirty Pound Bag. If he will Return to his Quarters at the Bath in 14 Days, he shall be kindly Receiv’d otherwise, his Twelve Penny Admirers will Proceed against him with the utmost Severity, and have no more Claps at his Service, when his Money shall be spent, and he come upon the Stage again. (Heraclitus Ridens, 24-28 August) [copy used: University Microfilms]

COMMENT. The authors of the Biographical Dictionary, XI, 323-324, identify the actor concerned as William Pinkethman, not Anthony Aston, who was in America at the time.
