Figure 4 - The first quarter second of a typical medial inositol AP train. The onset artifact that occurs during the first 25 msec of the sequence is ignored. The phasic portion occurs during the interval immediately following the onset artifact to approximately 150 milliseconds. The tonic phase begins at approximately 150 ms and lasts for the remainder of the one stimulation.