Why are we here?

- New Resource – Same Old Problems
  - How do you support a new university community central resource without adding more staff and more infrastructure?

- Could we conquer this beast?
Our Proposal

- Form a collaborative group that will develop the process to create modular training materials for Adobe Connect based on set standards.
- The materials will be owned by the group
- Members will have access to all source files, not just the ones they created
- Maintenance of materials will be shared across the group
Examples

- Camera and Voice pod
- Peg’s Lesson
The Process

1. Have a common need(s)
   - Support the software
   - Develop Adobe Connect training materials

Summary

- Have a common need
  - Value-added materials/content
- Establish and GROW a community
- Provide a vision that includes purpose and goals
- Method to track and respond
- Provide a repository
- Provide social interaction
Things to Think about

- We might not all be using the same version of Adobe Connect -- might need more than one group with “fluid” memberships.

- Members need to be self-policing and understand that everyone is counting on everyone else to do the work they have promised to do.

- Need a name -- suggestions
What’s next

- We are at a brainstorming stage -- everything is fair game!
